MORE STRINGENT FIRE LAWS NEEDED.

Announcement by the Alabama Rat ing Bureau of an increase in the insurance rates of Albany and Decatur calls attention to the necessity locally for more drastic building laws. The announced increase is a most whole- planes possible. some on, ranging from 20 cents on the $100 on shingle-roof dwellings, to 10 per cent on frame mercautile buildings and stocks and 10 per cent on the stocks only of mercantile buildings expected to dwindle. of other than frame construction, In announcing the rate increase, the amendment to the Town Rate Book carries the following notation:

Upon the passage and enforcement of an anti-shingle ordinance. a deduction of 10 cents from the above classes having wood shingle roofs will be authorized by the Bureau.

The suggested anti-shingle roof ordinance would prohibit the construction within the corporate limits of buildings with other than metal roofs. and the mere fact of its enactment would automatically result in a reduction of ten cents in insurance rates. This would still leave effective an increase of 10 cents over present rates, or would halve the advance. While the saving in insurance pra miums by the tightening up of build ing regulations would be considerable, this in itself would not be the chief advantage of the passage of such an ordinance. The greatest benefit would come from the increased propection against fire losses. That the hazard would be reduced can be inferred from the very fact that the insurance companies, which have delved deep into the problem, are willing to grant lower rates. The public very Chills and Fever Not readily understands that insurance companies are not in business for their health and that their tables are Woman Alone," which, with "The Journal of a Neglected Wife" is the basis of Pathe's serial, "The Neglected Wife," featuring Ruth Roland, to be shown at the Star and Delite created a sensation in the literary world. It is the story of the growth of an affair between a respectable gir; and a married man.

The story, told with all the author's power of making the actions of her characters live upon the page before you, is that of the "other woman." The story of the wife has been retold many times and so has the stor: of the "other woman," but in most Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Penn of Florence; cases the woman who lured the man Mr. and Mrs.J. H. Make Our Homes Attractive

Park Boards and Civic Developement Engineers are but cogs in the wheels of the Municipal Government, they usually advise, but it remains for home builders to make our city attractive and beautiful,—they are the source of all Civic Development.

Then after the homes are built we must make them attractive, increase their beauty.

Lets make our cities a big park, the talk of our State, the pride of every citizen; you and your neighbor are pardners work one and all.

"The Inspiration of a Garden"

To lie for one short hour upon the breast Of green hospitable fields,

And let the world go by

To feel the kisses of the odored wind,

To watch the happy heaven alive with song.

To press our faces to the healing grass

And there sob out the weariness of towns. And lose our souls in the tangles of green shade

Few of us appreciate the wonderful works of nature, with its ennobling and uplifting influences. The excitement of business and pleasure has dulled our sensibilities to the grandeur of the fields and gardens.

This leads me to ask where are the old-fashioned gardens?-a riot of colors—where the flaming pollybook, proud and defiant lorded it over the dainty dandelion and demure violat, where the petunias and panaies dwelt in harmony together, buttercups of oriental hue mingled contentedly with the variegated sweet pea; sombre crepe-myrtles guarded the fence corners, while the sweet-odored honey suckle climbed the house sides, and stately paks or maples stood like sentinels at the four corners sheltering the song birds and nimble squirrels. Calling to a ind a verse fitting these

"The kiss of the Sun for pard on, The song of the Birds for mirth. One is nearer God's heart in a garden, Than anywhere else on earth."

Methinks I can answer my question-Where are the gardens? They were part of our homes-for homes and beautiful gardens are one and the same. Then we must have more homes to make our cities attractive.

No one feels like improving and beautifying a rented house, but an owner with justifiable pride beautifies and makes attractive the surroun l-

More homes in Albany and Decatur, more gardens, more song birds, and we will lose our souls in the tangles of shade to regain them in the brilliancy of the flowers and the cheer fulness of the songsters

Everything in Hardware for Builders

It is the most important to select the best hardware for that new home or building.

That brings you here, for we make a point of carrying nothing but the best builder's hardware that adds not only to the beauty of a building but to its selling value as well.

The Sash and door Locks, Hinges, Etc., are a very small part of a building, but will repay many times for the cost and trouble of proper selection. Cheap goods are a continual source of trouble and worry.

We are prepared to name interesting prices on the complete hardware for any style of building from the humble cottage to the largest office building.

Yes sir! We also sell the best building Tools--all moderately priced.
